

LT Anne Newton

US Army Corps of Engineers Project Manager C5I Branch, USCG Research and Development Center

- LT Anne Newton started her career in the enlisted ranks nearly 19 years ago. After serving for 9 years enlisted on high endurance 378' cutters HAMILTON and DALLAS, an analyst at the Maritime Intelligence Fusion Center Pacific as well as the District 11/PACAREA Command Center as a Search and Rescue duty officer she was accepted into Officer Candidate School in 2010.
- Since becoming an officer she was a deck watch officer on the Coast Guard's first 418' Homeland Security Cutter BERTHOLF out of Alameda, CA.
- She was then selected as Commanding Officer on the 87' patrol boat ALBACORE out of Virginia Beach, VA. LT Newton then served as the Chief of Intelligence for Sector Virginia where she also qualified as Search and Rescue Mission Coordinator.
- She is currently stationed at the Coast Guard Research and Development Center (RDC) in New London, CT. Over the past 3 years she has been at the RDC, LT Newton, has been involved in numerous projects helping to modernize the Coast Guard.